Cookies policy

1. Introduction

- 1.1 Our website(s) uses cookies.
- 1.2 By using our website(s) and agreeing to this cookies policy, you hereby consent, agree and accept to our use of cookies in accordance with the terms of this cookies policy.

2. What is a cookie?

- 2.1 A cookie is a small text file that a website saves on your computer, handheld or mobile device when you visit that website. This text file contains an identifier which enables the website to remember your actions and preferences (such as IP address, language, font size and other display references) over a period of time, so you don't have to keep re-entering them whenever you come back to the website or browse from one page to another.
- 2.2 Cookies may be either "permanent" cookies or "session" cookies: a permanent cookie is one that will be stored on your hard drive until it expires or until you delete it. On the other hand a session cookie will expire at the end of your session, when your web browser is closed.
- 2.3 Normally, cookies do not contain any personally identifiable user information. However, any personal information that we might potentially be storing about a particular user may be linked to the information obtained from and stored in cookies.
- 2.4 Also, web servers might use cookies to identify and track users whilst they navigate different pages of a website, and also use cookies to identify returning users of a particular website.

- 4.3 The information produced by these analytics service providers relating to our website(s) is used to create reports about the use of our website(s)

5. Third party cookies

- 5.1 Our website(s) might also use other third party cookies. We shall update this Cookies Policy accordingly once a decision can be made.

6. Do you want to control cookies?

- 6.1 You can control and/or delete cookies as you wish. You can delete all cookies that are already on your hard drive and you can set most browsers to prevent them from being placed. If you do this, however, you may have to manually adjust some preferences every time you visit our website(s). If you delete cookies, this will also have a negative impact on the usability of many websites.
- 6.2 If you do not wish for these and any other cookies to track you, it might be a good idea to use an internet browser which will allow you to disable them.
